

How to Find a Style Number on Your Patagonia Clothing

Here's how to find the style number of your Patagonia garment.

Written By: Brittany McCrigler

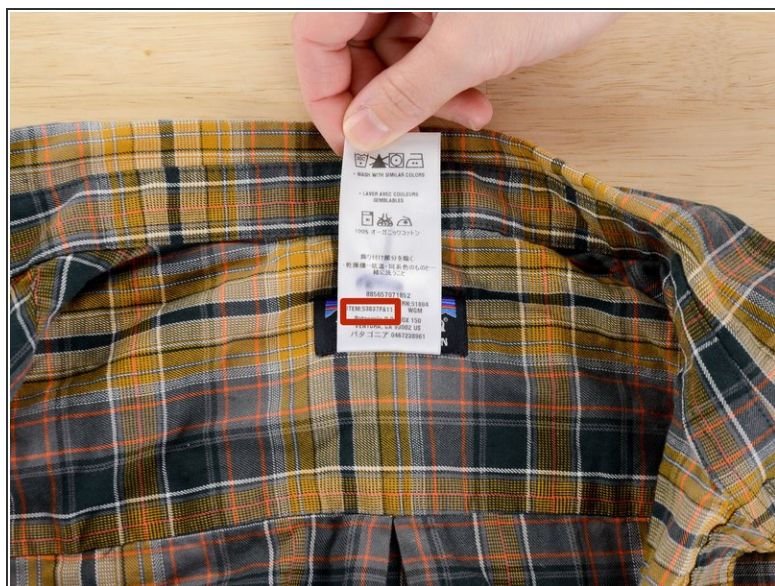

INTRODUCTION

You'll want to find the style number of your garment before contacting Patagonia Customer Service. Here's how.

For replacement parts or further assistance, contact Patagonia Customer Service.

Step 1 — How to Find a Style Number on Your Patagonia Clothing

- Find the white tag on your garment. The tag may be located in the inside back collar, the inside side seam of the garment, or along a sleeve.
- Flip the white tag to the back side.
- Look for either the word "ITEM" or the word "STYLE" on the back of the tag.
- The number that follows is your style number.
- The letter and number that follow the style number represent the season, F for Fall or S for Spring, and the last digit of the year the item was sold in.
- You can look up the item number on <http://pcpsia.com> in order to find out the name of your garment. All you have to do is download one of the certificates of conformance to view the item's product description.
- ① For example, item #23730 is called the "M's Fore Runner 1/4 Zip" when looked up on its certificate.

Step 2

- This is where you'd find the style number on a Patagonia jacket.